

THE CLARION.

Child Murder in Philadelphia.

A HORRIBLE ESTABLISHMENT.

A woman known to the world as the wife of Dr. Isaac Hathaway entered Police headquarters and asked to see the Chief of Police. When she saw the Chief she walked up to him and said: "Mr. Gevin, I told part of my tale of sorrow yesterday afternoon. Since then I have resolved to make things plain and want to know truth to what I said at that time and want to say here, in the presence of these witnesses," exclaimed the woman somewhat excitedly, "that everything I told these detectives yesterday is true in every respect, and I am willing to repeat the same story to the Coroner to-morrow at the inquest. When we lived at No. 2,245 North Fifth street, hand-somely dressed women, old and young, rich and poor, came there. Children were born and quickly disposed of. A chubby little baby would be born, the heartless wretch would pick up the body—they would be born dead—as if it was an old bucket or something of that sort and toss it down the cellar steps.

Large and ferocious hounds were in the cellar, and you could hear them gnawing and tearing the tender flesh from the little bones. The brutes were allowed to feast on more than one human body and they seemed to relish the awful meal. Then again, babies would be buried in the cellar and a few inches of earth thrown over their remains. I don't think the skeletons and bones have all been recovered, for there were lots of them buried there. Some of the small children were placed in a red-hot stove and destroyed. While the flesh was burning, there would be a powerful and sickening stench for a time, but the doctor did not appear to mind it. I think that the detectives will find something if they visit the house on Rising Sun Lane where we formerly lived.

The detectives were afterwards instructed to examine the premises and they started on their journey, accompanied by the bogus physician's alleged wife, who trembles with fear when Hathaway's name is mentioned. The authorities are making every effort to obtain the names of persons who are willing to testify against the old "doctor," who is nearly eighty years of age. It is said several witnesses have been secured who have visited Hathaway for improper purposes.

OVER THE STATE.

Enterprise Courier: About two weeks ago there was an elopement from Enterprise, the parties being Willie White, not quite sixteen years of age, and Miss Ethel Ross, aged fifteen years. They were married.

Meridian Observer: Dr. J. M. Byrd surrendered to the sheriff of Jasper county on Tuesday, and on yesterday the preliminary examination in the case commenced at Paulding before Judge Edwards. Col. S. M. Meek, of Columbus, with Messrs. Street and Hardy of the local bar, defend Dr. Byrd.

The Observer says that Mr. James M. Williams died at his residence in Garrettsville, Miss., on Thursday, 21st inst., in the 65th year of his age. He was born in Kentucky but came to Garrettsville in 1836 or '37, and having good business qualifications and sober and industrious habits was soon employed by the best men of the town.

Peelo Journal: Elijah Oliver, Esq., one of the pioneers of North Mississippi, died at his residence in Baldwin, on Friday the 15th inst. He was born in Tennessee, in December, 1810; removed to Marietta, Miss., in 1839; resided in that place or on his farm six miles distant for twenty-five years. He lived in Baldwin since 1865, and has been a successful merchant and planter.

A Bude in Short Frocks.

Fort Gaines Gazette: There was quite a romantic marriage at the Courthouse Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being J. H. Rollins, of Henry county, Ala., and Miss of Lawrenceville, Ala.

The bride is a young lady about sixteen years of age, and was going to school in short frocks. The groom, although having been married once before, was going to the same school. The parents of the young lady objected to her marriage to Rollins, but love laughs at locksmiths, so a runaway match was planned. Rollins found out he could steal her away from the school-house at dinner time, so he steals her and runs away with her, and brings her over here in Georgia and marries her, and that was the end of it. Before the bride started on her trip she went over to a neighbor's house and borrowed some long frocks. She said she felt so funny in them she did not know what to do.

"The tight-laced young lady," says Richard A. Proctor, the astronomer, "is, after all, the fit partner for the male of her kind. Pinned and shallow brains cannot marry and intermarry till waist contracts and brains grow shallow to the vanishing point." This is rather strange advice for a scientific man to give. The procreation of imbeciles will not last the millennium. He, as well as other persons, knows that if human beings could be reared upon the principles that govern the breeding of animals, the race would be improved. The pairing of fools and imbeciles simply retard human advancement and add to human misery.—Rochester Democrat.

A MOTHER who starts out in the battle of life without a bottle of Shiner's Indian Vermifuge is like the warrior who marched upon the battle field weaponless. Both meet with defeat because they are not prepared for the battle.

DANIEL WEBSTER knew the value and power of the press, and respected it accordingly. He once said: "Small is the sum that is required to patronize a newspaper, and well rewarded is the patron. I care not how humble and how unpresenting the gazette which he takes. It is next to impossible to fill a sheet with printed matter without putting something into it that is worth the subscription price. Every parent who has a son away from home at school, I would supply him with a newspaper. Other things being equal, the first were always decidedly superior to the last in debate, composition and intelligence."

Are the Kidneys "Vital Organs"?

Decidedly, yes. Without them life is impossible; and they appear to be peculiarly susceptible to severe and fatal derangements. They are moreover, exceedingly difficult to treat, and the ailments affecting them are liable to end at any time in Bright's Disease. In our opinion, formed upon the conclusions of many skilled physicians, Hunt's Kidney, Liver and Bladder Medicine, is the best ever administered for kidney, bladder, liver and urinary diseases. It cures like a magic spell.
